

Dr. Ethan James

Adjunct Professor

ethan\_james@email.com | (312) 555-7623 | Chicago, United States

---

Profile

Dedicated and student-centered educator with a Ph.D. in English Literature seeking an adjunct professor position at Loyola University Chicago to foster critical thinking, enhance writing skills, and inspire a love for literature in undergraduate students.

---

Work Experience

09/2018 - present, Adjunct Professor, DePaul University, Chicago

- Teach undergraduate courses in British Literature, Literary Theory, and Composition
- Develop and implement engaging curricula that promote active learning and critical thinking
- Provide individualized feedback and support to students to foster their academic success

09/2014 - 06/2016, Graduate Teaching Assistant, Northwestern University, Evanston

- Taught introductory courses in College Writing and British Literature under the supervision of senior faculty
  - Designed and led interactive classroom activities and discussions to engage students in the learning process
  - Graded assignments and provided constructive feedback to help students improve their writing and analytical skills
-

Education

09/2012 - 06/2016, Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in English Literature, Northwestern University, Evanston

- Dissertation: "Exploring the Gothic: Transgression and Subversion in Victorian Literature"

08/2010 - 05/2012, Master of Arts (M.A.) in English Literature, University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago

09/2006 - 05/2010, Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) in English, University of Wisconsin-Madison,
Madison

---

Skills

- Curriculum development and instructional design
- Classroom management and student engagement
- Writing and research skills
- Proficiency in learning management systems (Blackboard • Canvas)
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills